

2006 Pars Plus, 15th Anniversary Special Edition

2006 PARS PLUS: 15th Anniversary Special Edition contains all the average or par times both fractional and final for every combination of distance, surface, class level and racetrack for more than 140 tracks and specialty courses across North America. From Albuquerque to Zia Park, and all other racetracks in-between, handicappers will understand like never before the exact pace-and-speed demands of any race they analyze. Based on painstaking research, exhaustive analysis and a race-by-race examination of more than 57,000 Thoroughbred races run in North America in 2005, 2006 PARS PLUS allows handicappers to determine how any previously run race fits in the context of today's race. These pars take very dissimilar running lines and bring them all together on the same level playing field of the pace-and-speed demands of today's race. For example, shippers, distance-switchers and class-movers are constant causes for concern for handicappers. These par times allow a handicapper to line up the pars of any previously run race with those of today's race and then know with remarkable ease and simplicity precisely how to adjust the previous race so it falls in line with today's track and distance. For example, how does the typical handicapper evaluate a horse coming in from a one-mile race at Churchill Downs if today's race is six furlongs at Belmont? Usually, he guesses! With these par times, the horse's one-mile race at Churchill quickly and cleanly gets converted to fractional and final times that fit neatly in the context of today's six furlongs at Belmont. Thus, stakes-level race times of :45 3/5 1:10 1/5 1:36 2/5 at Churchill get converted to their equivalent :22 :45 1:09 4/5 at Belmont. Quite good to the first two calls, but sorely lacking at the finish! Whatever the situation, these par times allow the handicapper to know with confidence just how good (or otherwise!) horses really are regardless of whether they are shipping in from a different track, moving up or down in class or stretching-out or shortening-up in distance. No other resource or reference sheds so much vital light on the mysteries of Thoroughbred ability as 2006 PARS PLUS. This makes it the perfect companion for the modern-day handicapper who seeks to take advantage of all the opportunities afforded by multi-track simulcasting and in-home account wagering. No longer are unfamiliar tracks and circuits an obstacle to added profit the 2006 PARS PLUS handicapper handles them with gusto. By themselves, the par times in this book would be sufficient. But for extra value for money, 2006 PARS PLUS includes exclusive bonus information: average daily variants allow the handicapper to determine the true speed of the racetrack on any given day and act accordingly. track-class ratings graded from A through F help identify the very best tracks from the mediocre ones, and theres no grade-inflation! intertrack class-level ratings allow for at-a-glance comparisons of any class level at any track with any other class level at any other track handicappers may think that a $10,000 claiming race at Beulah is the same as the $10,000 claiming race at Mountaineer, but thats not the case, and heres the proof! detailed instruction and example races on how to put these pars times to optimal use by handicapping the Cynthia Publishing Company way. WMFs (Winning Move Factors) and individual track capsules provide eye-opening observations on how the so-called track biases prevail upon the day-to-day activity at all the tracks in North America some of the tendencies remain so remarkably strong as to merit gold-plated status! local knowledge issues discusses the quirks and idiosyncrasies in play in North American racing what to make of statebred-only
