

Wish: Indigo Ballet Series

If you love ballet fiction...For Indigo Stevens, ballet classes at Miss Robertas ballet studio offer the stability and structure that are missing from her crazy home life. At almost 16, she hopes this is the year she will be accepted into the New York School of Ballet so she can begin her ballet dance career. First she must prove shes ready, and that means ignoring Jesse Sanders, the cute boy with dimples who is definitely at the top of Miss RobertasList of Forbidden Things for Dancers.But Jesse is the least of Indigos concerns. When she discovers her mom is an alcoholic, it simultaneously explains everything and heaps more worry on Indigos shoulders. As her moms behavior becomes increasingly erratic, Indigo fights to maintain balance, protect her younger brothers from abuse, and keep her mother from going over the edge. But life with an alcoholic parent is unpredictable. When the violence at home escalates, Indigo realizes she can no longer dance around the issue. At the risk of losing everything, she must take matters into her own hands before its too late.Scroll up and grab a copy today.
